Good afternoon

Further to the review of traffic regulation orders, please find attached details of the proposed changes in the Towyn and Kinmel Bay area.

Apologies that there has been a delay in processing the review for Towyn & Kinmel Bay, there have been a number of additions from various sources as detailed below:

- North Wales Police have requested changes to Gaingc Road and Sandbank Road restrictions as parking on those streets in narrow stretches can cause an obstruction all year round. Maes y Llan included due its proximity, to maintain consistency.
- Proposed changes at St Asaph Avenue are a consequence of road layout changes carried out for flood defence works, works are ongoing and having obtained planning approval.
- General disabled parking bays proposed at The Square (South West) following a councillor's request.
- Parking restrictions on residential streets at Horton's Nose, Park Avenue and Gwellyn Avenue Kinmel Bay are proposed to prevent visual and/ or physical obstruction at the junction areas
- Overnight motorhome restrictions proposed at Horton's Nose to prevent visual and/ or physical obstruction and to conserve the amenity of the area.

If there are any further locations you wish to add to these proposals, I would be happy to receive your request however if they are to be added to this order it could cause a further delay.

If you have any comments or queries about the proposals detailed, please contact me directly. We are hopeful for a date in the near future when the proposals will be formally advertised in the press and you will be notified by our legal department when this happens.

Kind regards
Janine
