Good afternoon, Charlie.

As Towyn & Kinmel Bay is recognised as an area in Wales with the least trees, would welcome any planting that could be brought forward to address that.

As well as St Asaph Ave and Clwyd Park, I would really like to look at the CCBC Green infrastructure ideas as shown in the attached photo and expand that along the A548

Regards,

Nigel.

Hi both,

I have the opportunity for a project enhancing biodiversity on Conwy land in Kinmel bay, do you have any projects in mind that you'd like to investigate?

Would you like to progress the idea of planting trees at Clwyd Park? Planting more street trees on St Asaph Ave?

We can support the Town Council in establishment costs, watering and such. Map below of Conwy Freehold:

Green Dragon - Did you know...?

Thanks to the Local Nature Partnership (LNP) Cymru project fund and working with local groups, several projects are underway in our communities to enhance the biodiversity of our county.

Projects include: providing raised beds for planting at schools and outdoor classrooms; the development of a community garden on previously underused land at a car park in Colwyn Bay; the planting of an orchard and flower meadow at M development of the Rill in Happy Valley; and the creation of new wildlife ponds at Tir Bay.
